

Smoking relaxes, or not.

The following results really make it clear why smoking takes away stress and anxiety.

‘Your body goes into chaos, so your brain has to deal with that and forget your worries...’

These results show that although the smoker may think smoking relaxes them, the HQ-HRV device actually shows that the body is so stressed out that it is unable to cope with all the regular functions. In the ECG AFTER SMOKING picture, the overall comprehensive health of the body reduces considerably to point of almost creating a meltdown.

Mike Broadwell USA 2014 for full results visit: <http://www.fusionlighttherapy.com/smoking>